

Nomura to Launch New ETF Designed to Track Performance of “Bloomberg Barclays US Intermediate Corporate Index”

Tokyo, June 10, 2019— Nomura Asset Management Co., Ltd. (NAM), the core company within the Asset Management Division of Nomura Group, today announced plans to launch the NEXT FUNDS Bloomberg Barclays US Intermediate Corporate Index (JPY Hedged) Exchange Traded Fund (Code:2554). This new exchange traded fund (ETF) is designed to track the performance of the “Bloomberg Barclays US Intermediate Corporate Index (JPY Hedged, JPY Based).”

Under the prolonged low interest rate environment, investors have a growing need for products that offer more attractive yields than domestic bonds and limited risk.

NAM structured this new yen-hedged ETF comprising US intermediate investment grade corporate bonds maturing within 10 years, in response to strong interest by investors in these asset classes.

The Bloomberg Barclays US Intermediate Corporate Index (JPY Hedged, JPY Based), which the ETF will track, measures the performance of US intermediate investment grade corporate bonds that have a maturity of one to 10 years.

The ETF was today approved for listing by the Tokyo Stock Exchange (TSE) with a listing date of June 28, 2019. From the listing date, investors will be able to trade the ETF on the TSE through securities dealers and traders in Japan.

The minimum investment amount for this ETF is expected to be approximately 10,000 yen (per 10 units).

The ETF is part of Nomura’s NEXT FUNDS range. Including ETFs structured and listed overseas, this brings the total to 63.

† “NEXT FUNDS” is the brand name for the ETF product range of Nomura Asset Management Co., Ltd., representing “Nomura Exchange Traded Funds”.
