Objective and Features of the Fund

1. Objective of the Fund

The Fund aims at investment performance tracking the yen converted FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI Index* (hereinafter referred to as the “Benchmark Index”), which means NAV volatility is to correspond with that of the Benchmark Index.

* The FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI Index is a stock price index which is comprised of the top 30 stocks listed on the mainboard of the Malaysian stock exchange (Bursa Malaysia) in terms of market capitalization and liquidity. The calculation method of the index is the Weighted-Average Market Capitalization Method, which is Free-Float Adjusted. The composition of the index is reviewed every June and December. The FTSE Bursa Malaysia KLCI Index has been calculated since July 6, 2009, replacing the former index, the Kuala Lumpur Composite Index, which was calculated with a base date set as January 1, 1977 and which assumed the index value on that day to be 100.

* The Malaysian Ringgit based Benchmark Index is converted into yen, in principle, using the Telegraphic Transfer Middle Rate on the next business day after any date on which the Benchmark Index is calculated.

2. Features of the Fund

■ Main Subject of Investment

-Stocks (including DRs (Depositary Receipts)) that are included or are due to be included in the Benchmark Index are to be the main subject of investment by the Fund. The Fund may use stock index futures transactions and foreign exchange forward transactions to keep investment performance tracking the yen converted Benchmark Index.

■ Investment Policy

(i) The Fund is investing mainly in stocks (including DRs (Depositary Receipts)) that are included or are due to be included in the Benchmark Index, and the Fund aims at investment performance tracking the yen converted Benchmark Index.

(ii) When an additional issue of beneficial certificates occurs, the Management Company may adjust the trust assets such that the trust assets remain in compliance with above policy (i).

(iii) In principle, the Fund adjusts Malaysian Ringgit exposure so that the proportion of the stocks in the trust assets which have exposure to Malaysian Ringgits are held in a proportion approximately equivalent to the Fund’s total net assets. Moreover, the Fund may accordingly make foreign exchange forward transactions or other transactions to adjust Malaysian Ringgit exposure. Furthermore, in order to keep investment performance tracking the yen converted Benchmark Index, the Fund uses foreign exchange forward transactions with the aim of limiting exposure to an exchange rate fluctuation risk.

(iv) In principle, the Fund does not hedge for the foreign exchange rate fluctuation risk applicable to assets denominated in foreign currencies.

(v) In order to keep the investment performance tracking the yen converted Benchmark Index, the Fund may complementarily make purchases of stock index futures and incorporate investment trust securities that aim to keep investment performance tracking the Benchmark Index into the Fund. Furthermore, the Fund makes the purchases of the stock index futures to realize the same profits and losses equivalent to those that arise as a result of holding assets that are subjects of the investment.

(vi) Upon accepting a request to execute a partial redemption, the Management Company will liquidate the securities or other assets in the trust assets corresponding to the beneficial interest held by the requester of such redemption. However, the liquidation above shall not be applicable where the Management Company delivers cash, received for any additional issue of beneficial interests, to meet a partial redemption request.

(vii) In addition to those described above, the Management Company may give instructions in order to adjust the components of the trust assets, when any of the cases listed below occur:

- (a) If a calculation method of the Benchmark Index is changed or announced to be changed;
- (b) If adjustments to the component proportion of individual stocks included in the Benchmark Index in terms of total market capitalization are made or announced to be made due to causes such as interchanges of the selected stocks in the Benchmark Index, capital transfers of any of the selected stocks, or other similar events or if the said interchanges in the selected stocks are announced to be made;
- (c) In addition to (a) and (b) above, if necessary to ensure the link between the NAV and the yen converted Benchmark Index, etc.

Management described above may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc.

Even if any profits are realized from the sale and purchase of individual stocks, no dividends shall be paid.

*There is no suggestion or guarantee regarding the payment or the amount of future dividends.

Investment Risks

1. Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

The NAV of the Fund is subject to fluctuations in the prices of the securities, etc., in which the Fund invests. ~~All profits and losses arising from fund management are borne by the investors. Any principal invested in the Fund by investors is therefore not guaranteed. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in the NAV. The investment trust differs from a savings deposit.~~

Stock Price Fluctuation Risk	NAV of the Fund may be influenced by stock price fluctuations since the Fund invests in stocks. In particular, the stock price fluctuation risk of stocks listed on Malaysian stock exchanges which the Fund invests in is predicted to be greater than that of stocks listed on stock exchanges in industrialized countries.
Exchange Rate Fluctuation Risk	The Fund may be influenced by exchange rate fluctuations since the Fund, as a general rule, does not hedge for foreign exchange rate fluctuation risk to limit such risk. This is especially with regard to Malaysian currency, which is the investment subject of the Fund, as liquidity of Malaysian currency is highly likely to be limited compared to that of currencies of industrialized countries, such that the exchange rate fluctuations of Malaysian currency are predicted to be greater than that of currencies of industrialized countries.

* The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those mentioned above.

<<Primary Factors for Discrepancies between the Benchmark Index and NAV>>

The Fund intends to achieve investment performance where the NAV corresponds to the fluctuations of the yen converted Benchmark Index; however, in managing the investment assets, we cannot guarantee that movements will be identical to those of the Benchmark Index primarily for the following reasons:

- (i) As the calculation method of the Benchmark Index is the Weighted-Average Method, we cannot make individual stocks' incorporated ratio in the Fund completely the same as the component proportion of component stocks in the Benchmark Index in terms of total market capitalization.
- (ii) The incorporated ratio in the Fund of the selected stocks in the Benchmark Index (hereinafter referred to as the "Selected Stocks") and the Malaysian Ringgit currency exposure cannot be always maintained to be 100%, as the amount of money left in the Fund may be less than the amount of money required to purchase a whole unit of the Selected Stocks and there may be a disparity between (a) the timing of capital flow and (b) the time the Selected Stocks etc. are actually traded in accordance with the said capital flow.

(iii) There may be a disparity in the timing between the selling and buying of individual stocks and the Fund may incur market impact and bear costs such as brokerage commission, etc., by the trading of individual stocks, such as when portfolio adjustments are made due to changes of the component stocks in the Benchmark Index, capital transfers of any individual stocks in the Benchmark Index, or any other causes.

(iv) There may be a price spread between the sale price and the appraised value of the object stocks (including a price spread due to fluctuations of currency exchange rates).

(v) When futures transactions are made, there may be a disparity between the prices of the forwards and the Benchmark Index. When margins pertaining to futures transactions are deposited in a currency different from Malaysian Ringgits, there may be a price spread due to fluctuations of currency exchange rates.

(vi) The Fund bears certain costs, such as trust fees.

* The factors that contribute to the discrepancy between the Benchmark Index and NAV are not limited to those listed above.

2. Additional Considerations

The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (so-called “cooling off”) are not applicable to subscription to the Fund.

- In the event that a large number of redemptions occur and it becomes necessary to raise funds for the large number of redemptions within a short period of time or in the event that a sudden change in the market environment in the primary trading market occurs etc., there is a risk that the Fund may not be able to trade at an expected price (based on prevailing market prices) or the trading volume may be limited due to a temporary decline in the liquidity of the assets incorporated in the Fund. As a result of these risks, there is the possibility that the net asset value will be negatively affected, that acceptance of applications for redemption will be cancelled, or that the payment of redemption proceeds will be delayed.
- Management based upon the investment policy may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc., or unexpected circumstances.
- The interest/redemption payment from the issuers of the securities which are incorporated into the Fund may be delayed.
- Transactions pertaining to the Fund, such as an investment in securities and contracts related to such fund, may default because of the bankruptcy, or other similar event, occurring to a counterparty.
- NAV of the Fund and the Benchmark Index may differ because of costs and other factors. It is not guaranteed that the Fund’s investment performance will track or exceed the Benchmark Index.
- In Malaysia, wherein the Fund invests, impacts that changes of political, economic, or social situations have on a financial market are predicted to be greater than in industrialized countries. Moreover, in the event that Malaysian authorities introduce foreign investment restrictions as an emergency measure or the country's policies are changed, etc., there is a possibility that there will be a significant adverse effect on a financial market or that the Fund management will be highly constrained in its actions. New investments by the Fund may be prevented or significantly reduced, depending on how the investment environments, such as those described above, are changed. The Fund may be directly or indirectly affected by legal or tax reform or other reform in Malaysia.

- Pursuant to the provisions of the basic terms and conditions of the investment trust of the Fund, the Management Company may use its discretion to suspend acceptance of applications for subscription/redemption of the beneficial interests of the Fund, or cancel applications for subscription/redemption that have already been accepted, in the event that trading on the financial instruments exchanges (including trading of individual stocks), foreign exchange transactions, or clearing functions are suspended, or any other circumstances beyond the Management Company's control (such as closure of markets or extremely steep decline in liquidity due to a state of emergency in a country which is the subject of investment by the Fund (financial crisis, default, significant changes of governmental policies, introduction of regulations including asset freeze, natural disasters, coup d'état, significant changes in a political system, wars or other similar events)) occur.
- The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.
- Beneficiaries cannot exchange their own beneficial interests in the Fund for the securities corresponding to their share of the beneficial interests in the trust assets.

3. Risk Management System

The Management Company examines Fund performance and oversees management risks by having established a committee to take charge of these matters.

- Examination of the Fund performance

The committee reports and deliberates on the results of periodic examinations (analysis/evaluation) of the investment trust's trust asset performance results.

- Administration of management risk

The committee identifies and manages management risk and, based on its findings, provides guidance to the appropriate divisional management and any other relevant sections regarding rectification measures for appropriate administration.

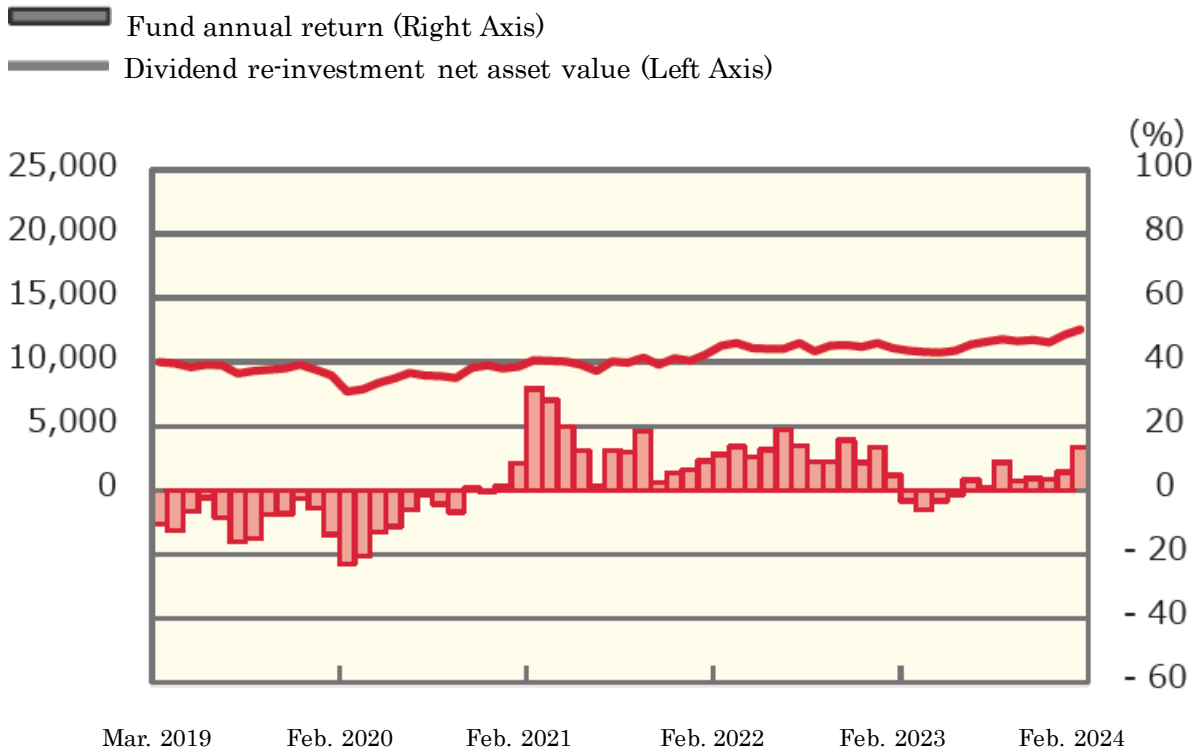

※Administration of Liquidity Risk

The committee establishes rules for the administration of liquidity risk, monitors the liquidity risk of assets incorporated in the Fund, and formulates/verifies emergency measures. The committee oversees the appropriate implementation of liquidity risk administration and oversees the liquidity risk administration system.

4. Risk Quantitative Comparison (from the end of March 2019 to the end of February 2024, per month)

* The annual return displays the return in a single year at the end of each month for the five years from March 2019 to February 2024.
