Objective and Features of the Fund

1. Objective of the Fund

The Indian Rupee based Nifty 50 Index ^(*) (hereinafter referred to as the “Benchmark Index”) is used as an underlying benchmark. The Fund aims at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index, which means NAV volatility is to correspond with that of the yen converted Benchmark Index.

*The Nifty 50 Index is a representative Indian stock price index. It is composed of 50 stocks, selected from the stocks listed on the National Stock Exchange of India Ltd., using criteria such as market capitalization, liquidity, Free-float weight and other factors. The calculation method of the Nifty 50 Index is the Weighted-Average Market Capitalization Method, in which free-float stocks are used in the calculation of market capitalization. The Nifty 50 Index is calculated in Indian Rupee terms with a base date set as November 3, 1995, and it assumes the index value on that day to be 1000.

*The Indian Rupee based Benchmark Index is converted into yen, in principle, using the Telegraphic Transfer Middle Rate on the next business day after any date on which the Benchmark Index is calculated.

2. Features of the Fund

■ Main Subject of Investment

-Domestic and foreign short-term securities, Index Linked Securities^(), stocks that are included or announced to be included in the Benchmark Index and Stock Price Linked Securities^() are to be main subject of investment of the Fund. Stock index futures transactions, foreign exchange futures transactions and foreign exchange forward transactions are main subject of transactions.

^(*) Index Linked Securities are securities issued with the goal of matching the investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index (including indices that have a link to the Benchmark Index by converting their value into the value based on the presentation currency of the Benchmark Index).

^(*) Stock Price Linked Securities are securities issued with the goal of matching the investment performance linked to the stock prices of stocks that are included or announced to be included in the Benchmark Index (including stock prices of stocks that have a link to said stock prices by converting them into stock prices in the presentation currency of said stock prices).

■ Investment Policy

(i) The Fund aims at investment performance linked to the Benchmark Index converted into Japanese yen by the operation method, which is one of the operation method in the (a), (b) or (c) herein below or operation method which combined the plurality of the method herein below. The Fund decides the operation method and the combination of the operation method considering the efficiency etc.

(a) The method to invest in domestic and foreign short-term securities and use the Stock Index Future Transactions, foreign exchange futures transactions and foreign exchange forward transactions etc.

(b) The method to make investment to Index-linked Securities.

(c) The method to invest in stocks that are included or announced to be included in the Benchmark Index, and Stock Price Linked Securities.

(ii) When an additional issue of beneficial certificates occurs, the Management Company may adjust the trust assets such that the trust assets remain in compliance with above policy (i).

(iii) Upon accepting a request to execute partial cancellation, the Management Company will liquidate the securities or other assets in the trust assets corresponding to the beneficial interest held by the requestor of such cancellation. However, the liquidation described above shall not be applicable where the Management Company delivers cash, received for any additional issue of beneficial interests, to meet a partial cancellation request.

(iv) The Management Company may give instructions in order to adjust the trust assets components such that the trust assets remain in compliance with above policy (i), when any of the events listed below occur:

- If a calculation method of the Benchmark Index is changed or announced to be changed;
- If adjustments to the component proportion of individual stocks included in the Benchmark Index in terms of total market capitalization are made or announced to be made due to causes such as interchanges of the selected stocks in the Benchmark Index, changes in capital in any of the selected stocks, or other similar events;
- If the link between the NAV and the yen converted Benchmark Index is likely to be lost due to a decline in credit of an issuer of Index Linked Securities or Stock Price Linked Securities in the trust assets;
- If selected operation method, or combination of operation method is changed; or
- If the link between the NAV and the yen converted Benchmark Index is required to be maintained due to other events.

(v) In principle, public and corporate bonds in which the Fund invests shall have high credit, such as those carrying a credit rating of A or above (including public and corporate bonds that the Management Company considers have equivalent credit, in the event they do not carry any credit ratings).

*With respect to selecting public and corporate bonds in which the Fund invests, the Fund is planned to invest in the public and corporate bonds issued by a single issuer, since the issuance conditions are prioritized. Consequently, the ratio of investment in said public and corporate bonds is planned to be approximately 100%. However, the Fund may invest in public and corporate bonds issued by multiple issuers by taking the amount of the total net assets of the Fund, the amount of issue of said public and corporate bonds, the credit standing of an issuer, and other factors into account.

(vi) In principle, the Fund does not hedge for the foreign exchange rate fluctuation risk applicable to assets denominated in foreign currencies. However, the Fund may utilize foreign exchange futures transactions, foreign exchange forward transactions or other transactions to adjust foreign currency exposure.

Management described above may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc.

Investment Risks

1. Factors that contribute to NAV volatility

The NAV of the Fund is subject to fluctuations in the prices of the securities, etc., in which the Fund invests. All profits and losses arising from fund management are borne by the investors. Any principal invested in the Fund by investors is therefore not guaranteed. Investors may incur a loss and the value of their investment principal may fall below par as the result of a decline in the NAV. The investment trust differs from a savings deposit.

Stock Price Fluctuation Risk	NAV of the Fund may be influenced by stock price fluctuations since the Fund invests in stocks that are included (or due to be included) in the Benchmark Index or Stock Price Linked Securities (hereinafter collectively referred to as “Stocks, etc.”) or Index Linked Securities or utilizes stock index futures transactions. In particular, the stock price fluctuation risk of stocks listed on Indian stock exchanges which the Fund substantially invests in is predicted to be greater than that of stocks listed on stock exchanges in industrialized countries.
Bond Price Fluctuation Risk	Bond (such as public and corporate bond) prices can fluctuate due to fluctuations in market interest rates, fluctuations in the credit of the bond issuers, etc., which may affect the NAV of the Fund since the Fund invests in these bonds.
Exchange Rate Fluctuation Risk	The Fund may be influenced by exchanging rate fluctuations since (i) the Fund, as a general rule, does not have a currency hedge relating to the foreign currency denominated assets and (ii) using foreign exchange futures transactions and foreign exchange forward transactions etc., Indian Rupee exposure associated with the Fund is adjusted, so that such exposure to the Indian Rupee is limited to an amount approximately equivalent to the Fund’s total net assets. This is especially with regard to Indian currency, which is the substantial investment subject of the Fund, as its liquidity is highly likely to be limited compared to that of currencies of industrialized countries, such that the exchange rate fluctuations of Indian currency are predicted to be greater than that of currencies of industrialized countries.

* The factors that contribute to fluctuations in the NAV are not limited to those mentioned above.

<<Primary Factors for Discrepancies between the Benchmark Index and NAV>>

The Fund intends to achieve an investment performance where the NAV tightly corresponds to the fluctuations of the yen converted Benchmark Index; however, in managing them, we cannot guarantee that movements will be identical to those of the yen converted Benchmark Index primarily for the following reasons:

(i) As the calculation method of the Benchmark Index is the Weighted-Average Method, we cannot make individual stocks' incorporated ratio in the Fund completely the same as the component proportion of component stocks in the Benchmark Index in terms of total market capitalization.

(ii) The incorporated ratio in the Fund of the Component Stocks in the Benchmark Index (hereinafter referred to as the "Component Stocks") and the Indian Rupee currency exposure cannot be always maintained to be 100%, as the amount of money left in the Fund may be less than the amount of money required to purchase a whole unit of the Component Stocks and there may be a disparity between (a) the timing of capital flow and (b) the time the Component Stocks etc. are actually traded in accordance with the said capital flow.

(iii) The Fund may incur market impact and bear costs such as brokerage commission, etc., by the adjustments of the portfolio due to changes of the Component Stocks in the Benchmark Index, changes in capital of any individual stocks in the Benchmark Index, or any other causes.

(iv) There may be a discrepancy between the fluctuations of the Benchmark Index and the fluctuations in the price of stock index futures transactions. There may be a discrepancy between the exchange rate used for yen conversion of the Benchmark Index and fluctuations in the price of combined foreign exchange futures transactions and foreign exchange forward transactions. When margins pertaining to futures transactions are deposited in a currency different from the Indian Rupee, there may be a price spread due to movements of currency exchange rates.

(v) There may be a disparity between (a) the sale prices and fair market values of Stocks etc. or Index Linked Securities and (b) value of the yen converted Benchmark Index (including cases where the credit of an issuer of Index Linked Securities or Stock Price Linked Securities is declined or other similar cases).

(vi) Evaluations of investment in Stocks etc. and Index Linked Securities and stock index futures transaction may be directly or indirectly affected by law and ordinance or tax system in India.

(vii) The Fund bears certain costs, such as trust fees.

*The factors that contribute to the discrepancy between the Benchmark Index and NAV are not limited to those listed above.

2. Additional Considerations

The provisions stipulated in Article 37-6 of the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act (so-called "cooling off") are not applicable to subscriptions to the Fund.

- In the event that a large number of redemptions occur and it becomes necessary to raise funds for the large number of redemptions within a short period of time or in the event that a sudden change in the market environment in the primary trading market occurs etc., there is a risk that the Fund may not be able to trade at an expected price (based on prevailing market prices) or the trading volume may be limited due to a temporary decline in the liquidity of the assets incorporated in the Fund. As a result of these risks, there is the possibility that the net asset value will be negatively affected, that acceptance of applications for redemption will be cancelled, or that the payment of redemption proceeds will be delayed.

- Management based upon the investment policy may not be achieved depending on funding trends, market trends, etc., or unexpected circumstances.
- The interest/redemption payment from the issuers of the securities which are incorporated into the Fund may be delayed.
- Transactions pertaining to the Fund, such as an investment in securities and contracts related to such fund, may default because of the bankruptcy, or other similar event occurring to a counterparty.
- NAV of the Fund and the yen converted Benchmark Index may differ because of costs and other factors. It is not guaranteed that the Fund's investment performance will track or exceed the yen converted Benchmark Index.
- In India, wherein the Fund substantially invests, impacts that changes of political, economic, or social situations have on a financial market are predicted to be greater than in industrialized countries. Moreover, in the event that Indian authorities introduce foreign investment restrictions as an emergency measure or the country's policies are changed, etc., there is a possibility that there will be a significant adverse effect on a financial market or that the fund management will be highly constrained in its actions. New investments by the Fund may be prevented or significantly reduced, depending on how the investment environments, such as those described above, are changed.
- The stocks traded on Indian financial instruments exchanges which the Fund invests should be taxed according to the Indian tax system. A nonresident of India who sells stocks on Indian financial instruments exchanges should pay additional tax on profits other than capital gains tax. The NAV of the Fund is calculated daily, based on laws and accounting standards pertaining to the Fund, in consideration of the tax system and tax rate in India. Thus, the NAV may be affected by change in Indian tax system and tax rate, events such as tax refund or additional tax, etc. Also, some stocks in India are restricted by regulations such as the foreign institutional investors' maximum holdings ratio. In cases where these stocks are invested by the Fund, operational restrictions could apply.
* The matters to be described set forth in this paragraph are based on information which the Management Company can confirm, as of end of February 2022.
- The market price of the Fund is based upon supply and demand, as calculated through competitive buying and selling on the exchange. Therefore, market price may differ from the NAV itself.

- Beneficiaries cannot exchange their own beneficial interests in the Fund for the securities corresponding to their share of such beneficial interests in the trust assets.

3. Risk Management System

The Management Company examines Fund performance and oversees management risks by having established a committee to take charge of these matters.

- Examination of the Fund performance

The committee reports and deliberates on the results of periodic examinations (analysis/evaluation) of the investment trust's trust asset performance results.

- Administration of management risk

The committee identifies and manages management risk and, based on its findings, provides guidance to the appropriate divisional management and any other relevant sections regarding rectification measures for appropriate administration.

※Administration of Liquidity Risk

The committee establishes rules for the administration of liquidity risk, monitors the liquidity risk of assets incorporated in the Fund, and formulates/verifies emergency measures. The committee oversees the appropriate implementation of liquidity risk administration and oversees the liquidity risk administration system.

<The Fund's annual return and the change of dividend re-investment net asset value >

* The dividend re-investment net asset value is calculated by deeming that the dividend before income taxes is re-invested. The dividend re-investment net asset value is set by indexing the net asset value as of the end of March 2017 as 10,000.

* The annual return displays the return in a single year at the end of each month for the five years from March 2017 to February 2022.
